TUESDAY MAY 4.

THE STRIKES AND THE MOBS.

It is said that there are 14,000 men idle in Milwaukee in consequence of the strikes in that city. Nearly every department of manufacturing industry is effected, and the summary is as follows:

Brewers	1,700
Car-shop employes	1,400
Cabinet makers and carpenters	1,300
Coal heavers	500
Hod-carriers and masons	700
Shop tailors	300
Employes of shop tailors	3,500
Allis' employes	1,200
Slaughter-house hands	200
Broom makers	100
German bakers	120
Cigar-makers	500
Brickmakers	150
Iron founders	250
Sewer diggers	800
Hoffman & Billings' men	250
Painters (cannot be accurately estimated)	500
Hay tool works employes	100
Dock constructors	100
Sewer pipe factory employes	80
Lumber shovers	200
Boxmakers	100
Other strikers	500
Total	14,500

The striking fever is at a greater rage in Milwaukee than in any other city of its size in the United States, and it largely grows out of a demand for ten hours' pay for eight hours' work. The brewers are inclined to yield to the demands of the strikers, but other firms are said to be unflinching in their purpose not to surrender.

There was a good deal of bad blood shown by the strikers in Milwaukee especially by the Poles, whose pet emblem seems to be the red flag. They marched in a body to the West Milwaukee car shape and drove out the men who were inclined to work. The Polish mob made a raid on the Allis works and attempted to break down the doors and drive the workmen from their posts. Just then the immense hose was turned on the mob which scattered them like shot. They tried other parts of the great building shouting for vengence on the Reliance works and making all sorts of threats, but again the mob were made to stagger backward by the deluge of water from the hose. Had the Poles succeeded in getting the mob inside the works there would have been a terrible tragedy enacted, as the workmen were ready with crowbars and sledge-hammers to defend themselves. Mr. Allis can not operate his works without protection, and that seems impossible to obtain under the present condition of things, and therefore he has issued the following notice:

"To THE PUBLIC: By the advice of your mayor, I closed my works to-night. About the middle of this afternoon a band of Polish laborers marched from the West Milwaukee shops (which they had closed) to my works, and with brandishing clubs endeavored to force an entrance. Although this mob of men with clubs marched directly before the eyes of the police at the south side station, who had been notified of their coming and of their purpose, not a policeman moved to keep them from the attack. They were met at the door by my employes, and by them alone driven back into the street, where, after a little, they were taken in charge by the police and finally dispersed. As threats reached my ears that they would return to-morrow, largely reinforced, I visited the mayor and asked protection, suggesting that a sufficient number of guards be stationed inside the works to keep intruders out, and thus save all injury to persons and damage to property. After fully considering the matter, the mayor decided that I ought to close the works and advised me to do so. In accordance with that advice and the want of assurance of proper protection, my men were dismissed. "EDWD. P. ALLIS."

It was a piece of cowardice on the part of the police force of Milwaukee not to furnish Mr. Allis the protection he needed and should have received promptly. Mr. Allis also issued to his workmen the following card:

"I desire in this public manner to express to those of my employes who requested me to keep my works running in accordance with the settlement made with their committee, my sincere regrets at being, temporarily at least, unable to do so from threats of violence. I also wish here to heartily thank each and every man who, at my call, left the work they were quietly pursuing, and bravely guarded the entrances, and unaided, drove back the mob of misguided men who, with clubs and shouts, were seeking entrance. I feel that to their prompt and energetic action is due the preservation of property, and what is of greater account, the avoidance of the bloodshed that might have followed a collision inside the works. Assuring you of my esteem, "EDW. P. ALLIS."

The strike on the Missouri Pacific has ended, and the thousands of idle men have been ordered to work. The congressional committee, which has been sitting at St. Louis for several days, investigating the strike, held a conference with Mr. Hoxie, vice president of the Gould system, and also with the executive committee of the Knights of Labor, and the result is a settlement of the difficulty. Of course, it is not definitely known which side had to do the backing down, but it is inferred that Gould did not, and probably that is as near the facts as one can get at present. It is rumored that Mr. Hoxie has agreed to do what he agreed to do six weeks ago, take back some of the Knights who were not engaged in destroying the property of the company. To this, Mr. Hayes, of the executive board of the Knights, has consented. So the men have lost many thousands of dollars in wages, and have not carried a single point, while Gould is king of the situation. All this comes of having a blatherskite like Martin Irons in authority in the Knights' organization. Had it not been for his foolishness, hotheadedness and impudence, the matter would have been settled long ago and without humiliating defeat to the Knights of Labor.

There is a queer condition of things in Chicago, full particulars of which will be found in our telegraphic columns.

The strike for ten hours' pay for eight hours' work will end in a miserable failure to those workingmen who have been employed in manufacturing establishments, and for these reasons: There is no a factory or a mill in the west which is making large profits this year. There never was a time when the margin of profit on manufactured goods was as small as at present. There never was a time when manufactured articles of all kinds sold at such a low price as at present. And this fact must also be considered in connection with the present movement for ten hours' labor, that there never was a time in the history of this country when the purchasing power of a day's wages was as great as it is now.

Mr. Allis, of Milwaukee, who employs more than one thousand men, said it was absolutely a "business impossibility" for him to grant the demands of the strikers, that should he do that, he would run his works at a loss. Mr. Whitely, of Ohio, the largest private manufacturer in that state, says he can not operate his factory should he accede to the demands of the strikers. He offered to arbitrate that is, to select a competent bookkeeper and business man, the Knights of Labor to select a second, and the two to select a third, and these three men were to give his books and works a thorough examination, and if this select committee then decided that he ought to give ten hours' pay for eight hours' work he would do until compelled by losses to close his works. The strikers refused to settle the difficulty in this honorable way, and decided to attempt to force their demands by striking and boycotting. The result is Mr. Whitey proposes to close his shops and let his men remain idle. The manufacturers at Chicago, and at Grand Rapids, Michigan, say they can not advance wages at present without financial difficulty, and therefore they take the most profitable course to them—close up and let their striking men remain idle.

The Milwaukee Journal has this to say about rioters carrying the red flag: The flag under which the brawn of American labor fought and freed the African slave is a good enough flag for American labor to fight its own battles under. We not believe that the bawling blatherskites who have gathered their knowledge of freedom from monarchial tyranny are qualified to teach industrial liberty to American citizens, or are needed to swell the ranks of those who flatter labor that they may rob it. The men who froth at the mouth under the red rag of anarchy are misfit comrades, much less leaders, for those who have offered their heart's blood for the emblem of citizen sovereignty.

If Jeff Davis had been properly introduced to a "sour apple tree" twenty-one years ago last month, the country would have occasion to give thanks.

By striking the workingmen make hard times a great deal harder. A great many large contracts have been annulled because of the labor agitation.

I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism and after trying a dozen different kinds of medicine procured a bottle of Athlophoros. I was entirely cured, and have never had anything like rheumatic pains since. A. Hayward, Burlington, Iowa.

Charles Sumner's Tree Is Dying.

What is known as Charles Sumner's tree in the capitol grounds is dying, and will have to be taken away. This tree stands in the center of the walk leading from New Jersey avenue to the southeast entrance to the capitol building, and was greatly admired by Senator Sumner for its splendid symmetry and luxuriant foliage. Some years ago, when the capitol grounds were being remodeled, the landscape artist directed its removal to make room for the walk. Senator Simon Cameron, from his room at the Congressional hotel, saw what was going on and run over to the place in his dressing-gown and slippers. He made use of some very vigorous language concerning the new-fangled landscape architecture that was being introduced, and swore that Sumner's tree should not be sacrificed. He said that Sumner and he had never been friends, but that as long as he lived he should see that so noble an object of his colleague's affection should be spared.—Washington National Republican.

An Anecdote of John C. Calhoun.

I recently came across an anecdote of John C. Calhoun which will be as new to your readers perhaps as it was to me. It appears that a lady friend once importuned him to write an original poem in her album. Strange to say, he consented. After many attempts to fashion his thought tunefully he wrote the word "Wherewe," but to save his life he could go no further. Having selected the most unpoetical word in the language to start with the muse fled from him in horror and affright, leaving the stern logician baffled. Despairing of the performance of his promise he wrote to the lady frankly admitting his plight. She acted that the album be returned just as it stood.—Washington Cor. Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

Five Thousand Dollars for a Meal.

Republicans have certainly had their share in the glitter of the Cafe Anglais, says the Paris News. The present Republic, as M. Wilson is affectionately called by his friends, once gave a Vitellian repast in the great restaurant. The covers were just twenty-five in number, and each cover represented a little bagatelle of 1,000 francs. Five thousand dollars for a meal!—Chicago Tribune.

BLOODSHED AT CHICAGO.

STUBBORN FIGHT BETWEEN RIOTERS AND THE POLICE FORCE.

REMARKABLY SHORT LIST OF VICTIMS FOR THE AMOUNT OF POWDER AND LEAD EXPENDED.

Five of the Mob Wounded, One of Them Fatally—Several Policemen Hurt—A Storm of Bricks and Bullets.

The Trouble Precipitated by Incendiary Speeches—McCormick's Reaper Works and a Planing-Mill Attacked—Escorting "Scabs" Through a Howling Mob—The Gould Strike Declared Off at Last—General Labor Situation.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Fully 12,000 strikers, composed of lumber-shovers, moulders, planing-mill men and box-makers, congregated near Clark Bro.'s planing-mill in the Twenty-second street district Monday afternoon. They were nearly all foreigners, and many wore bits of red ribbon on the lapels of their coats. Shortly after 2 o'clock a man, coatless and hatless, mounted an empty freight-car standing near the throng and proceeded to address the men in German. "Stand firm," he said. "Let every man stand shoulder to shoulder and we'll win this fight. We must have our rights. Strike while the iron is hot. Drive the scabs out of the yards and let us show McCormick that he can not hire non-union men and keep them at work while we, the bone and sinew of Chicago, are forced to hear our wives and children crying for bread. Arm yourselves and prepare for the worst."

The speaker's language was greeted with deafening cheers. At this moment one of the proprietors of the Hinglington planing-mill thrust his head out of the window to learn the cause of the uproar. Almost instantly 1,000 men burst into the yard of the company and surrounded the building from which the head had protruded. A storm of stones and brick beat upon the roof, and the windows were demolished as though by an earthquake. This work of destruction having appeased their wrath the mob returned to the car from the top of which a member of the Lumberman's union was trying to quell the disturbance. August Spies, the editor of The Arbeiter Zeitung was then introduced. While he was in the midst of a virulent attack upon capitalists the tolling of the bell in the distant tower of the McCormick Reaper works broke upon the ears of the 12,000 men, and with loud cries of "Kill the scabs," "Drive 'em out," they started for the works. In the crowd were large numbers of women and children borne along and at 3:30 the works were reached.

Here Officer West was on duty. The mob is estimated to have numbered 20,000, by this time, and the officer taking in the section he could see ordered them to disperse, at the same time drawing his revolver. As he did so the air was filled with bricks and stones and it is astonishing that he was not stricken down. But he did some expert dodging and at last, finding the fire too hot made a dash for the line and managed to break through it, receiving in his passage a merciless beating. Upon getting through he was pelted with stones until a block away he fell exhausted.

The mob then turned back to the reaper works, and, with cries of "Kill the scabs," proceeded to bombard the building with every sort of missile that was not too heavy to throw. The result was that every window was wrecked and a rush was about to be made for the buildings to get at the men inside, when the Hinman street patrol wagon dashed up with twelve policemen, under command of Lieut. Enright. The men were formed shoulder to shoulder, and, with drawn revolvers, advanced on the mob, the lieutenant shouting:

"DISPERSE, OR WE'LL FIRE!"

A shower of stones was the answer, and the crack of the officers' revolvers replied. Nobody was hurt by this volley nor the next one, both of which were probably aimed high. The mob slowly retreated and the officers reached the sidewalk in front of the reaper works. Here they were again assaulted with a storm of missiles and one of them hit. This raised the ire of the officers and with club and revolver they fell on the mob and for a few minutes the crack of the revolvers was almost continuous, the mob taking a hand and returning the fire from all sorts of firearms. Exchanges of shots took place at a distance of twenty paces, yet strange to say no one was hit.

THE FUSILLADE WAS HOTTEST

when another patrol wagon came up, and forming with those who had borne the brunt of the fight so far, charged and drove the rioters up the street. At first they retired sullenly, firing at and stoning the officers as they went, but this kind of thing was getting wearisome to the bluecoats and suddenly a streak of fire ran along their front and the aim was so low that the rioters started a go-as-you-please race for cover. During this charge two officers were hurt by being hit with bricks, one on the head and the other on the hand, which was crushed.

At this point the twenty-four officers were reinforced by 175 more, thus swelling the number to about 200, as the wagon dashed up they were greeted with volleys of stones, but no one was hurt. Capt. O'Donnell then took command, formed his men and ordered a charge, and this was the decisive one of the fight. The rioters lined Blue Island avenue for a long distance and as the policemen went forward the frisky brickbat and humming cobblestone brought into requisition all the dodging powers of the men. Neither was the bullet absent, for the mob kept up an annoying fire from shotguns, pistols and all sorts of weapons. Arriving close to the mob the officers plunged in and here the

FIRST BLOOD WAS SHED.

Four of the mob dropped during the charge, two of them shot through the groins. They were picked up by comrades and borne away before the police could overtake them. One of the victims was a boy. He was shot while in the act of throwing a stone. Five men caught him as he fell and bore him to the car barns, where he called for a drink of water. It was given him and then he moaned piteously and begged to be taken home. An express wagon was secured and the dying boy place in it. His comrades would not give his name. Joseph Doubky, of 422 West Seventeenth street was the other striker who was shot in the groin. He was placed in a patrol wagon and taken to his home. Officer Casey went into the house to learn the nature of the man's wounds, and while he was there between 300 and 400 excited men and women surrounded the house demanding the officer's blood. The men in the patrol wagon grew nervous and drove the vehicle nearer the sidewalk. When Officer Casey emerged from the house the crowd surrounded him and cried,

"LYNCH HIM! QUARTER HIM!"

Casey run down the steps of the house and hurried toward the wagon. One man attempted to throw a noose around his neck, and forty others discharged revolvers after him. Bullets whistled all about him, and one cut the skirt of his coat. Just as the mob was about to attack the officers in the wagon a second patrol wagon came to the rescue. Joseph Hoss, the man who tried to cast a lasso over Casey's head, was captured and taken to a station house.

GUARDING THE "SCABS" HOME.

After the struggle in the vicinity of the McCormick works had been quelled, the objectionable scabs employed there were marched out into Blue Island avenue and told that they would be escorted to their homes by the police. One hundred officers were placed on either side of the scabs, and in this position they marched toward the city. As they passed a high board fence near the entrance to the McCormick yards an old man with a gun nearly six feet long crept to one corner of the barrier and dropped upon his knees. He then took deliberate aim at one of the officers and fired. The charge went wide of its mark, and tore a hole as large as a man's hand in a board standing near the street. The aged Anarchist then slunk out of sight. As the procession marched east on Blue Island avenue the walkers were jeered in a most exasperating manner.

WOMEN WITH BARE ARMS

and red handkerchiefs tied about their heads screamed imprecations from windows; children hid behind chimneys and potted pebbles and eggs at the objects of their venom and from time to time bricks and stones were hurled at officers and "scabs" by men secreted in the attics of the many small buildings on the line of march. When the procession reached the corner of Ashland and Blue Island avenue fully 60,000 people were massed along these thoroughfares and upon the house tops. The cry of "rats" and "scabs" was continuous and deafening. At times the officers were compelled to charge to the right and left in order that the procession might pass. The women were even more obstreperous than the men. They ran out into the gutters and shook their fists, and spat at the scabs. Details of officers diverged from the line of march occasionally with squads of "scabs" in charge to take them home and in this manner they were all safely housed.

During the riot five strikers were shot, two fatally. Four officers were slightly injured and Assistant Superintendent C. J. Bewby of the McCormick works was hit with a stone in the face and badly hurt.

HOW THE RAILWAYS STAND IT.

Most of Them Crippled and Some of Them Doing Nothing—Wild Talk of the Strikers—Strike at Pullman.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The people of Chicago, where 30,000 laboring men were striking the first blow of the long expected fight for short time awaited the events of Monday with apprehensions of alarm. The principal danger was supposed to be at the railroad yards, particularly at the Burlington and the St. Paul, where men had been imported to take the places of the strikers.

An element which considerably complicates the situation was suddenly injected into it Monday by the announcement by the switchmen that if the freight-handlers, who are the only railroad employes now striking, would form a union—they being now an unorganized body—the switchmen would refuse to handle all cars packed by non-union men. The result of such action would undoubtedly be to cause a general strike among all the roads, with all of its disastrous consequences. The managers of the railways met at the Burlington offices and resolved to act as a unit in refusing all demands for higher wages or shorter hours.

At the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern yards a number of men were ready to go to work, but they were intimidated by the strikers and after a while a new proposition was made by the striking employes, pending the consideration of which work was resumed.

The Rock Island men went to work as usual, but after the lapse of half an hour, a large crowd of strikers gathered at the freight house and became so demonstrative that it was deemed prudent to suspend operations.

The Wabash depots were under the protection of United States marshals, and maintained its business. The officials say that they will not treat with the strikers at all, but will fill their places with new men.

The freight business of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad is practically at a stand still, while on the Grand Trunk little or nothing was done.

The Milwaukee & St. Paul road brought 150 men in from the country to handle freight. They were protected by 100 armed men. A meeting of 4,000 strikers was held at the yards at which blood-thirsty Socialist addresses were made, but there was no trouble. The Fort Wayne road was utterly unable to handle freight. The Alton yards were about closed. The Burlington did very little. At the Michigan Central freight was handled about as usual. The Illinois Central and Baltimore & Ohio were at work, but are making demands. The Northwestern did about half their usual work.

The strike of lumber men looks serious. About 6,000 of them held a meeting on the prairie Monday, and the torch and knife were freely advocated in the addresses.

Pullman's car carpenters struck for eight hours, and being refused, all quit work.

The packers have practically conceded to all the demands of their men, although in some instances mutual concessions were made, and so all trouble in the town of Lake, which seemed imminent, has been averted. The affairs with the lumber, furniture, and iron interests are practically unchanged from Saturday, and will continue as at present for some time to come.

The north side rolling-mills and Crane Brothers' foundry remained closed. Five hundred girls employed in the tailoring establishments in Noble street struck for eight hours. A crowd of about 250 sheet-metal workers undertook to compel the suspension of work at the tin-can factory of Norton Brothers, in River street, but were frightened off by the police. The butchers employed by Swift & Co., at the stock yards, were forced by a mob to quit work.

The Times computes that at present there are 60,000 idle men in Chicago, who a week ago were at work and adding to the wealth of the community, and earning honest five-thoods for themselves. The wages of those men was about $125,000 a day. To this add $100,000 a day for the loss to the establishments which are affected, $100,000 for the resulting damage to general business, and $25,000 for the money spent by the idle men in saloons, which they would save if they were at work, and a total loss of $350,000 a day is arrived at, a loss which is absolute, and which can not be regained or supplied by any future endeavors."

CALLED OFF THE STRIKE.

Response of the K. of L. to an Appeal of the Congressional Committee.

ST. LOUIS, May 4.—In response to an earnest appeal from the citizens committee to which is added a letter from the members of the Curtin committee, the general executive board of the Knights of Labor Monday night, issued an order to the members now on strike upon the Gould system and upon the various lines in East St. Louis, to return to work. The following is the correspondence:

"SOUTHERN HOTEL, ST. LOUIS, May 1—THE GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD KNIGHTS OF LABOR OF AMERICA: The testimony taken to-day by the congressional investigating committee shows conclusively that very serious losses to the commercial, agricultural and other interests of the entire country have suffered from the labor troubles upon the lines of railroads belonging to the southwestern system and other railroads in the states of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas, and that by reason of said troubles a large number of persons not directly connected therewith have been thrown out of employment. Unwilling at this time to express any opinion in regard to the causes which produced this lamentable condition of affairs or to indicate where the blame lies for its continuance; and animated solely by a desire to render all the assistance in our power in the endeavor to restore peace, individual happiness and commercial prosperity to the citizens of the country, and particularly of the five states above named, we do hereby respectfully, but earnestly request you, as American citizens, having the welfare of our common country at heart, to advise, through the proper official channels, a discontinuance of the strike upon the railways hereinbefore mentioned, and to leave the question whether the employes or the officers of the corporations were justifiable to the decision that public opinion may form when the congressional committee, which has that matter under investigation, shall have completed its work. Feeling assured that a compliance with this request will merit for your boards and for those who may act in conformity with your counsel, the approbation of the people of the United States, we remain your obedient servants,

A. G. CURTIN,
W. H. CRAIN,
JAMES H. OUTHWAITE,
A. X. PARKER,
JAMES BUCHANAN,
J. W. STEWART."

HURST'S HOTEL, ST. LOUIS, MO., May 2.—TO HON. A. G. CURTIN, W. H. CRAIN, JAMES H. OUTHWAITE, A. X. PARKER, JAMES BUCHANAN, AND J. W. STEWART—GENTLEMEN: Your communication of May 1 was placed before the joint executive boards, and the following resolution adopted:

Resolved, That the communication from the congressional committee be received and their request granted. The time for calling the strike off is left to the general executive board.

"In view of the fact that the business interest of the country is suffering, the Knights of Labor, having the interest of the whole people at heart, willingly comply with the request of the nation's representatives and that of the citizens' committee of St. Louis, and declare this strike at an end, to take effect Tuesday morning, May 4, 1886.

"Trusting that this action will meet with the approval of the public and assist in bringing capital and labor in closer relationship, we remain very truly yours,

"The General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor"

"JOHN W. HAYES."

THE BALTIMORE DEMONSMRATION.

Ten Thousand Sons of Toil in Line—Temperate Speeches.

BALTIMORE, May 4.—All Baltimore turned out Monday to view the great parade of the sons of toil, for it had been promised that it would eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in this city. It was 2:15 p. m. when the head of the procession moved from the starting point, corner of Hollins and Fremont, and 4 o'clock was but a few minutes distant when the last assembly got into line. The procession was divided into three divisions, and the total number of men participating (actual account) was 10,716, and a more orderly good-humored set of men never trod the streets of Baltimore. The socialist contingent was very small indeed, only 712 men marching under the flaunting red. The streets were black with people who applauded the horny handed toilers as they passed. The most conspicuous building on Baltimore street was that of The Daily Journal (German). The building was gaily decorated for the occasion, and as the procession passed the men lustily cheered for The Journal, which is the steadfast friend of labor. The entire body proceeded to Schuetzen Park, where a picnic was held in the evening. Several speeches, temperate in tone, were made by local labor leaders.

The 1,500 or 1,600 carpenters and joiners in this city did not go to work Monday. They propose to hold out for eight hours and $3 a day if it takes all summer. They decline to compromise on nine hours at $2.25, the old rate per diem. One building firm, Messrs. Markland, late in the day, conceded the eight hours at $3 and fifty men went to work. The majority of master builders say that if the men can stand an all summer holiday they can. Only one carpenter was at work Monday on the new postoffice.

FREIGHT BLOCKADE AT CINCINNATI.

Futile Effort at Compromise—Carriage Factories Closed.

CINCINNATI, May 4.—The situation at the freight stations of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Ohio & Mississippi, Bee Line, Big Four and Cincinnati, Bloomington & Western has assumed a decidedly unsatisfactory phase. The freight handlers demanded a raise from $1.25 to $1.50 per day and the last four railways named above made a proposition to give the men $1.35. It seemed at first that this would be accepted. The Ohio & Mississippi men did accept and were on hand Monday morning to go to work, but were induced to walk out by the strikers from the other roads. A meeting of the men was held in the afternoon and a committee appointed to wait upon the freight handlers of the Louisville & Nashville and Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis roads, and reported at another meeting. There seems to be a determination to prevent others from taking the place of the strikers by some means, and a conflict with the railroad is feared.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton tried to get new men but failed, and subsequently closed their freight houses and refused to receive or unload freight.

Every carriage factory in the city has shut down, the last one to succumb being T. T. Haydock & Co. The workers demand ten hours' pay for eight hours' work.

All the furniture workers now out are thoroughly organized with committees for each shop.

SLOW BUSINESS AT NEW YORK.

The Metropolis Away Behind—Comparatively Little Disturbance—Third Avenue Gives It Up.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The following strikes occurred in this vicinity Monday: The Silk Weavers' union of North Hudson county, New Jersey, for eight hours and 25 per cent. advance. About 5,000 employes are out.

One thousand carpenters at Newark, struck for nine hours per day and ten hours' pay. The bosses will not accede to the demand.

The Deutsch Zeitung of Newark has suspended publication on account of alleged exorbitant demands of the type setters. Several eight-hour meetings were held in this city at night. All passed off quietly.

The Third Avenue railroad cars were run Monday night, being the first night service since the strike. A strong police force was out and no trouble occurred.

A secret meeting of the directors of the Third Avenue railroad was held Monday and word sent to ex-Senator Ecclesine, representing the strikers, that 300 of the latter would be taken back in a body at once and the balance within two weeks. The company is also agreed to discharge the new men. The strikers refused the offer peremptorily.

COLD WATER FOR A MOB

Successfully Applied at Milwaukee—The Brewers.

MILWAUKEE, May 4.—The Brewers' association, except one or two brewers, conceded the demands of the men. Best's brewery still refuses to comply. Allis & Co.'s rolling mill was mobbed by about 1,500 men Monday night. The works were closed until further notice, and the 1,000 men who had gone to work are out again. The mob was dispersed by turning several lines of hose upon them. Several cases of violence were reported, but nothing serious.

Bishop McQuaid on the Knights.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 4—Bishop McQuaid said Monday morning that Taschereau's mandate applied only to the diocese of Quebec. The Knights of Labor had a right to organize to protect themselves, but had no right to disregard the rights of capital. Should they attempt to do this, they will then come under the general condemnation of the church, and special action may be taken. As yet, however, they had not forfeited their rights to consideration by the Catholic church.

Tie-Up on the Union Pacific.

OMAHA, Neb., May 4.—One hundred and fifty brakemen on the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific road went out on a strike Monday morning. The company last week adopted a new schedule of mileage and pay which they are not pleased with. All freight trains on the division are tied up, and passenger trains are run without brakemen. General Manager Callaway says that he will have now men to take the places of the strikers in three days.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

THE DEBATE IN THE SENATE ON MAIL SUBSIDIES.

Vest Adds His Mite to the Discussion—A Proposition to Lengthen Cleveland's Term—Ten Millions for Fortifications—Synopsis of Proceedings in Congress.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—Vest took the floor in the senate Monday to oppose the proposition to appropriate $8,000,000 for carrying the foreign mails in American bottoms. He maintained that the provision would prove destructive to the American merchant marine. He read statistics showing that in late years four times as much has been paid to American steamships as to those of other countries for transporting foreign mails, and yet he said our merchant marine and our navy had steadily dwindled away. Since 1860 $38,000,000 had been appropriated for naval purposes. In a reply to a question by Hale, the speaker admitted that all the money had not gone into the construction or repairs of "these old hulks," but, he said, it had gone to the support of officers who for twenty years had been nautical lamp-posts for the city of Washington—ornaments of hops, etc., who had no ships to go upon.

He would repeal our infamous navigation laws. No other civilized nation had such laws. He would also reform the tariff and place it on a revenue basis, so as not to handicap one man for the advantage of another. He believed in an honest mail service, but this amendment violated sound principle. So wedded were the Republicans to a protective tariff that they were unwilling to break even one link in the chain of protection; but they were compelled to acknowledged that after a long season of protection, a change was indispensible. France had failed to build up her commerce by subsidy. Germany had increased her merchant marine without subsidy.

Eustis wished Vest had explained his idea of a "subsidy." He did not think Vest's position a consistent one. He [Eustis] did not see how Vest could reconcile his opposition to subsidy with his introduction of a bill to guarantee the payment of $37,500,000 to build the Ends' ship railway on foreign soil. Ships were not like wagons—notwithstanding the assertion of Beck. The question of our shipping and foreign trade relations was one different from that of local manufactures. Shipping represented to the other peoples of the earth the power and prestige of a nation. Our people believed, he added, that the trade of the countries of this continent belonged to us and could be had with little effort.

Ingalls saw no reason why men of Maine and Massachusetts could not to-day build ships and sail them if they wanted to do so. The reason they did not do so was because they could make more profit on their money in other directions. Neither was our carrying trade dependent on the matters set forth by senators. We had not lost the carrying trade of the world; we had relinquished it.

Beck further briefly discussed the question before the senate from the tariff point of view. In the course of his remarks he maintained that labor was not protected by protection; that three-fourths of the operatives of New England were French Canadians and that if the government meant to protect the workingmen and not the manufacturer it should see to it that the workingman received his share of benefit from the duty instead of his having to compete with cheap Canadian labor in the New England mills.

Hawley demanded the truth of Beck's statements, and said the operatives of Connecticut had in the savings bank as much as $22,000,000.

The debate then closed for the day, and it was arranged that at 4 o'clock Tuesday a vote should be taken on the bill.

ECHOES FROM THE CAPITAL.

An Extra Month for Cleveland — Pre-Emption Repeal.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—Ingalls' joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment extending the president term to April 30 instead of March 4, was favorably reported to the senate Monday. An original bill to repeal the pre-emption and lumber culture laws was reported. It is a substitute for the bill already before the senate. The mail subsidy amendment was debated by Vest, Eustis, Beck and others, and an agreement reached to vote on it at 4 p. m. Tuesday. Dolph offered an amendment to the fortification bill, providing $10,000,000 for fortifications and coast defenses. The senate had a short executive session and then adjourned.

The conference on the Indian and Fourth of July claims bills were presented in the house and adopted. The resolution providing that after the 10th inst., the house sessions shall be from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., was adopted. Bills were introduced establishing the territory of North Dakota; authorizing the president to offer a reward of $25,000 for the body of Geronimo, dead or alive. The bill providing for the adjustment of land grants made to aid in the construction of railways in Kansas, and the forfeiture of those unearned, was passed—205 to 9. Bills were passed for the appropriation of $27,000 to complete the public buildings at Hannibal, Mo., and $138,000 to repair and enlarge the buildings at Des Moines, Iowa. The house then adjourned.

Irony on a Ghastly Subject.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—Representative Weaver, of Nebraska, Monday offered a preamble and resolution ironically suggesting that it requires a high degree of intelligence to discharge the functions of a member of the committee appointed to attend the remains of a deceased member to the place of burial; and providing for the appointment of a standing "graveyard" committee, which shall be composed of such statesmen as the record discloses have shown the highest ability in lodging the dead-weight of an objection to the consideration of unobjectionable legislation; said committee to have leave to sit during the sessions of the house, but without power to object at the grave to the interment of the corpse.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations: Postmasters—Josephine Hopkins, Glen Allen, Va.; J. H. Beidler, Mount Pulaski, Ills.; John B. Seeman, Denison, Iowa; William Lavies, Santa Barbara, Cal.

Selected Officers.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—The Republican congressional campaign committee has selected Mason Goff, of West Virginia, as chairman and Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, as secretary.

The Base Ball Games.

League games played Tuesday were: at St. Louis—Chicago 7, St. Louis 3; at Kansas City—Detroit 11, Kansas City 4; at Philadelphia—New York 3, Philadelphia 6; at Washington—Boston 11, Washington 12. Association games: at New York—Baltimore 10, Metropolitans 9, at Pittsburg—Alleghenys 7, St. Louis 6.

Good Results in Every Case.

D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes, that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs; had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all coughs and colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful discovery. Trial bottle free at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store.

Iridescent beads for dress trimmings at Bort, Bailey & Co.'s.

The greatest foe of American people is consumption; its victims number many thousands each year. Physicians and druggists have at last found a remedy which they feel justified in recommending. This is Dr. Bigelow's Positive cure, which cures consumption in stages that other remedies are of no benefit. It cures cough, colds and throat and lung diseases speedily and safely, price 50 cents and $1.

GLADSTONE TO MIDLOTHIAN.

He Stands by His Home Rule Scheme and Virtually Abandons Land Purchase.

LONDON, May 4.—Mr. Gladstone being unable to meet his Midlothian constituents face to face has published an address to them. He serves formal notice upon his countrymen that none of the essential principles of his home-rule scheme will be modified or abandoned at the dictation of the heterogeneous political elements by which it has been antagonized, and emphasizes the utter inability of his adversaries to agree among themselves upon any coherent Irish policy as a substitute for that which he proposes. He presents in strong terms the alternative of political chaos which confronts the nation in the event of a refusal to grant home rule to Ireland at this time, and declares that "the real question is not the triumph of Irish autonomy, but the length and character of the struggle." He draws the line sharply between the forces of "wealth, social influence, station, title, and the professions," which constitute the opposition now confronting the ministry, and appeals boldly from the "spirit and power of class" to the nation at large for a just settlement of the pending issue. He directs attention to the fact that the same influences which are now combined against him resisted every parliamentary reform accomplished during the last half century, and finds in the record of their past defeats the assurance that they will not now prevail. He says he is not alarmed at her suggestions that home rule for Ireland leads to home rule for Scotland and Wales. He only wants a little time to look at the question in its order of merit. He draws no vital distinction between the right of these cases and that of Ireland, but says there are many distinctions of circumstances.

The land-purchase bill Mr. Gladstone virtually abandons, but he improves the occasion to warn the Irish landlords that they are neglecting an opportunity to conserve their own interests which is never likely to recur.

All the London journals make adverse criticisms on his address and predict the defeat of home rule.

PLOTTING PRISON OFFICIALS.

Escape of a Notorious Criminal—Its Connection with a Prison Revolt.

MONTREAL, May 4.—Louis Vian, the most notorious criminal in Canada and the leader of the recent revolt at the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, escaped from that place early Monday morning. He was confined in one of the strongest cells in the dungeon, but succeeded by means of a knife in opening a small hole through which he passed; then he climbed to the top of the shed and from there got on the outer wall and escaped. Suspicion attaches to the prison officials, who are believed to have been mixed up in the revolt for the purpose of ousting the warden from his situation, and fearing the result of the death of the warden, who is not expected to live, let Vian go because he had threatened to explode the whole conspiracy if they kept him.

Proclaiming the Iowa Prohibitory Law.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 4.—Governor Larrabee has issued a proclamation on the subject of enforcing the prohibitory law. It recites the fact that the people voted for prohibition June 27, 1882, and that the Twentieth and Twenty-sixth general assemblies have passed the prohibitory law, and additions to making it effective in accordance with the popular expression, and so he warns all persons violating the law that they will receive hereafter no executive clemency, and he calls upon priests, ministers, teachers, and the press to enlist the moral forces of the law, and upon judges, sheriffs, and other officers of the courts to be fearless and vigilant in enforcing it.

Greece Is Done Talking.

VIENNA, May 4.—It is reported that the powers have sent a collective reply to Greece's note in response to the ultimatum, demanding a clear promise from Greece that she will reduce her army to a peace footing. The reply, however, does not impose a time limit for complying, nor convey a menace of a blockade in the event of her declining to accede.

ATHENS, May 4.—The government has decided that its reply already made to the ultimatum of the powers is sufficient, and that the promises contained therein are all it can make.

Latest from the Ohio Muddle.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 4.—The latest about the Ohio senate war is that the four Democratic members from Hamilton will not return to Columbus, but allow their seats to be taken away. This peculiar and sensational story was told by Senator Coulter, one of the Republicans who served on the investigating committee. If true it indicates a new movement by the Democrats, which no previous claim or action has warranted.

I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Colonial and Indian Exhibition.

LONDON, May 4.—Everybody in London who is not discussing home rule is talking about the great colonial and indian exhibition which is to be opened at South Kensington under royal and gorgeous auspices. No less a personage than the queen herself will touch the electric button which will set machinery whirring and whizzing throughout the vast buildings. The occasion will be still further honored by a new ode written by the poet laureate, set to music by Sir Arthur Sullivan, and sung by Mme. Albani, who will also sing "Home, Sweet Home." The president of the company giving the exhibition is H. R. H. the prince of Wales, and he has proven himself no mere figure-head, but an active, practical working official.

Wife Murder and Suicide.

TEKONSHA, Mich., May 4.—This community is horrified over a tragedy enacted two miles east of Tekonsha Monday morning. Ranodyne Shedd, a pioneer of this county, aged 78 years, was married seven years ago, for the second time, to Mrs. Jane Wood, and their domestic life has since been an unhappy one. For several days appearances indicated a climax in their affairs, and the end came Monday morning in the discovery that Shedd had murdered his wife with an ax and a butcher knife and then killed himself with a razor. The old man was a respected citizen, and the horrible affair casts a gloom over the whole community.

Mr. Ficklin was one of the old school Democrats, and years ago was known in every district. He was a warm friend and admirer of Stephen A. Douglas, and in 1860 stumped with that distinguished gentleman during his presidential canvass.

For 15 years I was annoyed with catarrh, severe pain in my head, discharges into my throat and unpleasant breath. My sense of smell was much impaired. I have overcome these troubles with Cream Balm.—J. Sec. Mr. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Connecticut.

I was cured before the second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm was exhausted. I was troubled with chronic catarrh, gathering in head difficulty in breathing and discharges from my ears.—C. J. Corbin, 963 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A God send is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. My nose would bleed, I thought the sores would never heal. Cream Balm has healed me.—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

OLD RESIDENTS OF WISCONSIN.

The old residents who first settled Wisconsin and have watched it grow from a thinly populated territory into one of the most prosperous and progressive States of the Union are fast passing away. Every few days are printed accounts of the death of some village patriarch, whose tales of fights with the Indians and of hardships endured and overcome in earlier days have seemed to the rising generation like chapters in ancient history. To those who still remain all honor is due. They will not be with us long, but while they yet tarry their experience and advice should be heeded. Samuel Barstow, of Lancaster, Wis., is one of these old residents and is well known, not only in the State, but beyond its borders as well. In recounting some of his experiences recently he said:

"I have suffered more or less from rheumatism and general debility for a number of years. For the last year the trouble has constantly increased and for a month I could not dress myself or get up from my chair without help. From my head to my feet every cord and muscle was stiff and sore. During this time I used various remedies, but all to no purpose, and continued to get worse. My attention was called to Athlophoros. I procured a bottle and on the 22d of January, 1884, began to use it. I took five doses and then slept easily until eight o'clock in the morning. I then got up and dressed myself and walked out without a cane. I was astonished at the result and could hardly realize that the medicine had produced such an effect. I am getting to be an old man—I am now seventy-two years old—and I don't suppose that it will make me a young man, but it will help the lamp of life to burn down calmly."

Mrs. R. F. Bowers, of Racine, Wis., is well known in that city as one of the old residents, she having lived there thirty-seven years. Her present address is 1?? State street. She has this to say:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism for the last three years. I did not suffer as much pain as some do with the same complaint, my difficulty being principally stiffness of the joints. The trouble was mostly in my knee joints, and it was with much difficulty that I could bend them, especially in going up and down stairs. During the time I was troubled in this way I tried many medicines without any good effects. Athlophoros came to my notice, and being anxious to get some relief I thought I would try it. After using it for a short time I was able to bend my knees easily and could go up or down stairs.

Mrs. T. R. Neff, of Calamine, Wis., who has herself been benefited by taking Athlophoros for her rheumatism, tells an interesting story of the improvement wrought in her brother-in-law, Mr. John W. Neff, of Calamine, an old gentleman of seventy-five years. She says:

"When he got the first bottle of Athlophoros, which I sent for for him, he was so badly off with rheumatism and had been for nearly a year that he could not step without two crutches. It took two or three men to help him out of a wagon or sleigh, and he could not dress or undress himself alone. He had paid out a great many dollars for remedies. He took eighteen bottles of Athlophoros, and now he can walk three-quarters of a mile with just one cane, and can hoe in the garden and chop wood."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 Wall St., New York.

MEXICO'S PEASANT GIRL.

FASCINATING PICTURESQUENESS OF THE MEXICAN MUCHACHA.

The Feminine Representative of a Romantic Race—Her Simplicity of Costume—Sly Coquettishness—Married and a Housekeeper—Skill as a Cook.

In the more unfrequented portions of this republic the peasant girl is seen in all her primitive simplicity. As the lumbering stage-coach, with its dozen passengers, slackens up at the adobe gate of some hacienda, and the driver shouts his "Buenos Dias!" or words of greeting, the first to issue from the gray-walled hacienda is a Mexican muchacha. True to the vein of curiosity which forms a fiber of the feminine heart ever since the day that curiosity led Mother Eve to taste the forbidden fruit, the muchacha must see who are the new arrivals.

She stands at the great gate of the hacienda shyly watching the newcomers. She is but a developed child; simple, picturesque, content; one whose face is not freckled, whose limbs are not attenuated and never knew the manacling of a stocking. Her hair is not golden; her feet are bare, and the two long braids of jetty hair falling behind are caught at the ends with the inevitable bit of bright ribbon. When speaking she generally catches the braids and flings them over her breast and her brown, bare shoulders. She wears no Pompadour, no Grecian coil, and no bangs, but her hair, parted in the middle, is as glossy and black as the famous atzabatche of her native hills. She wears only a short skirt, and that intimate, low-cut vesture of white texture and scant pattern so well known and seldom mentioned, which hangs suspended from her nut-brown shoulders, and is caught inside the skirt before it is gathered in at the waist. She is entirely unconscious of a want of further clothing.

REPRESENTATIVE OF A ROMANTIC RACE.

Among the different types of women in America none is more unique than the Mexican muchacha; for she is a woman governed rather by the characteristics of a race than by the shackles of education, coquettish from instinct, graceful because natural. The traveler remembers well a creature who watched him with less of inquisitive curiosity than sly coquettishness in those very black eyes. But beyond the mere attraction of her glances are the associations which environ that creature. She is the representation of a romantic race whose civilization, coeval with the palmiest days of Egypt and Persia, partake strangely of the Orient. Like her sister on the Ganges, the Nile, and the Euphrates, she makes her tortillas or unleavened bread; she carries water on her head as gracefully as Rebecca, and spins like Penelope.

But her race has bent below the fluttering of a cross-emblazoned flag, which, wherever it has gone, has left behind it a trail of desolation. It was beneath that Castilian flag that the native American woman became Spanish in the olden time of strength and conquest; and unchanged in manner, appearance, or taste, she has acquired the new characteristic coquetry so essentially Spanish. While the pretty oval face, the bright black eyes, and the quick, glib tongue of the Mexican muchacha is the same as it was 500 or 1,000 years ago, she has attained other characteristics brought to her by the chivalric soldiers of Cortez.

MARRIED AND IN THE KITCHEN.

Once married her domestic surroundings are such as she would have them be, for she knows no better. Her domestic system may be primitive. She has no chairs, no closets, no stoves, no tin or glassware, and no soap. Her cooking, celebrated for its savory character, is carried on in allas, or pots of brown earth over a brasero, or open brick fire-place. The great national dish, frijoles—beans—is not prepared by her as it would be by her golden-haired and blue-eyed Boston sister—with rich morsels of pork.

The muchacha soaks and steams the frijoles for two days or so, and then cooks them with onions and seasonings, and serves them hot from a flat cazuela, or earthen frying-pan and covered with thick gravy. Her tortillas—bread—are flat, round cakes of corn-flour, toasted over the charcoal; they contain no yeast or bicarbonate poisons; those tortillas, curled up, are used to scoop the frijoles like a spoon, only the spoon is eaten each time.

Every Mexican peasant girl is an adept in the cooking of atole, or corn-meal gruel, enchilades, and tamales, spicy preparations wrapped in the pliant tortillas, and she is also a good judge of Mexico's national beverages—pulque and mezcal.—Mexico Cor. Providence Journal.

A Beautiful Picture Done in Thread.

There is now being exhibited in Chicago a beautiful picture done entirely with a needle. At the distance of a few feet it has the appearance of a mellow old engraving or etching, but on close inspection shows itself to be needlework. The background is of white silk, grown somewhat yellow with age, and the material employed in working is thread drawn from black silk crape. The drawing of the picture is perfect, and aside from its value as a curiosity, it is a marine view of real merit. Its present owner, an English gentlewoman now living in Chicago, can furnish satisfactory proof of its having been in their own family since the year 1797. Before leaving England she frequently refused offers of large sums for it, not foreseeing the misfortunes which now compel her to part with it.—New York Morning Journal.

Has a Foundation in Common Sense.

Like most laws of etiquette, punctuality at dinner has a foundation in common sense and common kindliness. No invited guest should force her hostess to give a bad dinner that would have been good had it been served as soon as cooked. No one should keep a number of hungry men waiting for a dinner that will be inevitably cold or overdone if served half an hour after the appointed time. Let every dinner-giver follow the example given them, and our young people will soon learn that they can not accept an invitation for 7 and go at 8, in full security that some one will be later still.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

MY SAILOR.

He lay at my side on that eastern hill,
My brave, sweet lad with the golden hair,
And gazed at the vessels, which seem to fill
The rippling breadth of the harbor there—

The black-hulled vessels from over the sea,
The white-sailed vessels that came and went.
"I am going to sail away," said he,
"To sail some day to my heart's content!

"I shall see the waving of southland palms,
The dark, fierce fronts of the icebergs tall,
And gather the grapes, as a beggar alms,
From vines on some Spanish convent's wall."

Then he drew my hand from beneath his chin,
And trailed my fingers across his lips;
"Yes, we both will sail from this town of Lynn
In one of those staunch old black-prowed ships."

So one summer evening his ship set sail,
And floated off in the twilight grim;
I heaped up the vessel with blossoms pale,
And wept that I could not follow him.

And I can not say that the palms are there,
Nor icy mountains he longed to see;
But I know he sailed into lands more fair,
And stronger arms, when he went from me.

O, my brave sweet lad! how his angel eyes
Will gaze out over the ocean dim,
That reaches from earth unto Paradise—
Till I set my sail and follow him.

—James Berry Bensel.

HOW MAUD S. WAS NAMED.

A Young Filly That Was Bought for $360—Her Wonderful Record.

The society columns of a Cincinnati paper not long since contained the following: "Miss Maud Stone entertained a number of her young friends at her father's elegant home in the east end one night last week." I think I hear you say: "Well, I don't see anything in a notice like that." There is not, only the young lady mentioned is the one the fastest trotter in the world was named for. Her father had purchased a young filly from a gentleman named Bugher for $360. Not long after he took a friend out to Chester park to look at some racing stock. The filly was in the "infield," and as they walked toward the stable Capt. Stone said: "There is a young filly I bought the other day and I think she has a turn of speed."

His friend looked her over, and, liking her points, remarked: "Start her up and let's see how she moves." Taking off his silk hat, the captain rattled it with his hand and the fine young animal started off at a three-minute clip. "Why, she's a natural trotter," was the comment. "She is, indeed," replied the captain, with a commendable pride in his purchase. "I wish I knew a good name for her," he added. "Why not call her after one of your children?" asked the friend. "I had not thought of that," was the reply as they walked away. The friend thought no more of the filly for about two weeks, when he met Capt. Stone coming out of the postoffice. "Hello," said he; "I have just acted on your suggestion, and have just posted the letter claiming the name for my filly. I am going to call her after my daughter Maud."

"Maud Stone will be a pretty name," responded the friend. "Oh! I'll not call her the full name," replied the captain with a blush. "You see, she'll mature before my daughter, and I wouldn't like to see her full name on a race card, so I have called her Maud S." After the filly made her great record at Lexington she was sold to W. H. Vanderbilt for $21,000. He never knew how to handle her, and was never able to get her speed out of her. Capt. Stone tried to buy her back and offered $100,000 for her, but the Vanderbilt would not let him have her.—Philadelphia News.

Electric Search Lights for Ships.

The New York Tribune suggests that ocean steamships be provided with electric search lights, as are European men-of-war, and it is a suggestion that steamship companies would do well to consider. There is certainly nothing to prevent their using these implements of science, for nearly all the steamships are provided with electric lights, and could just as well have a search light as a dining-room light. Light is a protection against more things than burglars, and with an electric lamp lighting up a distance of a mile around a steamship is pretty well protected, and the passengers may retire with a comfortable assurance of safety. But until something of this sort is done people will for awhile have a little feeling of insecurity, though not sufficient to keep them from crossing the ocean, either for business or pleasure.—"Borden" in Philadelphia Record.

Corn-Cobs as a Regular Fuel.

It is a little singular that in such a city as St. Louis corn-cobs can not be obtained to use as fuel. They make the best kind of a fire, easily started, cook well, and in summer their use avoids heating a house. I have a friend who came here recently from an interior city, where he had been burning cobs as a regular fuel, except for heating, and he started out to find them here. They come in by the car-loads, and should be plenty, but it seems that they can hardly be brought in fast enough to supply the demand for making vinegar. A strange use, but it's a fact. Car-load after car-load is pushed up to the vinegar factory on the tracks, and also of the lower grades of corn. They say this material goes into making the best kind of cider vinegar.—M. F. Strider in Globe-Democrat.

Should Guard Against Fretting.

Especially should we guard against a habit of fretting because of the discomfort it causes those about us, and the bad influence it has upon them. If the housekeeper frets the children do the same, and the servants also, for nothing is more contagious, and we have anything but a happy household. However badly things may go nothing is gained by worrying over them, and if we can not always be bright and cheerful we can at least endure patiently till the storm passes over and the sunshine returns, as it surely will in due time.—Good Housekeeping.

What an Observer Has Noticed.

An Atchison railroad man who has kept record for the past seventeen years finds that the state has had a blizzard—heavy snows, accompanied by wind—every fifth year. His record also shows that during January and February the weather may be expected to change every three days.

What Locality Is Exempt

From malaria? In the city and suburb, village and hamlet, in the mining districts of the west, the bottom lands of the south, in regions teeming with the fruits of husbandry, in trackless wastes inhabited by half naked savages it exists, But travelers, sojourners, old settlers, all who are liable to it, can uproot from the system the diseases to which it gives birth, or prevent them, with Hostetters Stomach Bitters. Chills and fever, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake are each and all overcome by this potent and searching specific. It is not less efficacious for liver complaint, dyspepsia and costiveness, ailments not unfrequently complicated with malarial attacks. Rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, and a want of vital strength, are also remediable by its persistent use. Appetite and sleep, always seriously impaired by the nervous disturbance and biliousness consequent upon fever and ague, are invariably restored by the Bitters.

Old and reliable Medicines are the best to depend upon. Acker's Blood Elixir has been prescribed for years for all impurities of the Blood. In every form of Scrofulous, Syphilitic or Mercurial diseases, it is invaluable. For Rheumatism, has no equal. Prentice & Evenson, oppo

Insanity is on the increase. Statistics show this. Many cases are brought on by overwork, anxiety, excitement, metal trouble and nervous prostration; it is also inherited. Invariably sleepless and constipation manifest themselves before one becomes insane. Constipation induces dyspepsia, jaundice, bad breath, piles, low spirits, headache, etc. Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic relieves constipation, thereby curing these diseases. Price, 50 cents. The Moral of a Fat Dog.

Christian Glauser, of Reading, Pa., is one of the few dealers, if not the only dealer, in dogs' meat in this country. He keeps it on hand to sell to persons who think it may be good for their health, and also tries out the fat and sells it as a cure for colds, rheumatism and troubles of the chest. He says that the meat of a fat dog has a rich, delicate flavor that everybody relishes who eats it, and that it is far more toothsome than dressed hog.—New York Sun.

Reliable Exhibitions of Character.

There was probability in what a bachelor said: "Why do I go to progressive euchre parties? To get a wife. Nowhere else can I find such reliable exhibitions of character in marriageable girls. They are the dance and all for dissembling their infirmities of disposition, but progressive euchre unmasks them, and they are as thoroughly understandable to a partner at the cards as they would ordinarily be to him after six months of wedded life."—Chicago Herald.

"Whom the gods love die young," says Byron; but why die when you can cure the cold or cough, which neglected means death, with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the old reliable!

A Novel Feature in Investments

The whole country, after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation that can make a better showing now than before the crisis, attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors, and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost amongst the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000, First Mortgage six per cent 10-year bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the farmer as well as the banker, the clerk and mechanic as well as the millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in one and five dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 gold bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the company's office, at 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the bond being payable to the company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the company give as a bonus, free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1,000 bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock free. The bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of bonds will be invested in cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—The N. Y. Financier.

There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends of the family, and the little coffin was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The Rev. John Schlerf, of the German Lutheran church, conducted the services at the house, at the conclusion of which the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery, where they were tenderly laid at rest. The pall bearers were: Philip Koch, August Zarske, Herman Zarske and Charles Grampke.

—The readers of the Gazette will remember an account published last March concerning the burning of a house near Shopiere, which was, on the day before, sold D. Conger to John A. Collins; the account stating that the house was insured in the St. Paul Fire and Marine insurance company for six hundred dollars, but at the time of the fire the policy had not been transferred, the parties interested claiming that they had not sufficient time to attend to the transfer. The second chapter is now recorded. The insurance company decline to pay the loss on account of the transfer not taking place—it appearing to be of a fine technical point. The third and concluding chapter will be completed by the courts.

THE LABOR TROUBLES!

The Situation in Railway Circles At Chicago.

The New Trouble in the Yards of the Burlington Company.

The Illinois Militia Order to their Armories.

Serious Trouble Apprehended in Milwaukee—The State Troops Order to Report At Milwaukee.

The Departure of the Home Companies.

IN THIS CITY.

Early this forenoon the following dispatch was received by Captain M. A. Newman, of the Guards and Captain F. A. Koeblin of the Rifles:

MILWAUKEE, May 4.—An order for active service is possible. Notify your men to be ready to respond promptly if ordered.

C. P. CHAPMEN, Adjt. Gen.

The news spread rapidly and so when that dispatch was followed by another calling out both companies everyone seemed to expect it. The second, one which was also sent to both captains read:

MILWAUKEE, May 4,—Bring your company to Milwaukee on the earliest possible train. Bring only ball cartridges. See local agent for transportation. Report by telegraph the number of men when you start.

C. P. CHAPMAN,
Adjutant General.

This was received very cheerfully by the members of the militia through the city. Few, if any of the boys, tried to get out of the trip; and in fact several enlisted after the last order had been circulated. At the armories everything was lively. Drums were beating from the windows; while inside the citizen-soldiers were busy making preparations for their hasty start. They were instructed to take three blankets for every two men, but excepting that very little baggage was taken. Three companies passed through here during the afternoon on their way to Milwaukee, they being from Mineral Point, Darlington and Monroe. The Governor's Guard, of Madison, went yesterday with Governor Rusk; while the Beloit, Whitewater and Delavan companies went this afternoon, and will join the others in Milwaukee.

At the Rifles' armory the roll was called at twenty minutes past three, and forty men responded. They marched out, and up Milwaukee street to the Corn Exchange square, where they were joined by the Guards, with thirty-nine men. A special train was awaiting at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot; and about four o'clock the two companies were being whirled along toward the Cream City and the scene of action.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, May 4, 3:30 p. m.

The situation on the Burlington road is further complicated to-day by a strike from an unexpected quarter. The Burlington Company at its freight house on Harrison street uses the tracks of the Fort Wayne road. The switch tenders employed by the latter company refused to throw the switches for any Burlington cars which had been loaded by other than the regular freight handlers.

From fifteen to twenty switch tenders stopped work at this point. The switch throwing is being done by the yardmaster and his assistants. In consequence of this, the Burlington company was able to move but twenty cars of freight to three o'clock.

The First regiment Illinois National Guards has been called to the armory to-day, to prepare for duty.

No fatal collisions.

MILWAUKEE, May 4, 4 p. m.—The Socialists have made considerable trouble in this city to-day. They have excited the strikers until there is fear that unless the manufacturers comply with their demands many of the mills will be burned.

The mob attacked some men that were at work this morning and the officers fired killing three of the strikers. There are now ten thousand men gathered in the streets waiting for the militia companies that are coming from all around. It is feared that a general riot will follow the appearance of the soldiers.

A Busy Place.

It is refreshing to know that in these troublesome times, when business depression and strikes appear to be the order of the day, that occasionally a business is found that is able to move right along just as though nothing unusual was occurring. This happy experience is being enjoyed by the popular lumber firm of Fifield Bros. on Jackson street, with a force of nice men and four teams at work, the amount of lumber handled is simply immense, and reminds the caller of the good old times of prosperity for which so many people sigh. This firm is justly noted for two things; first a good stock of lumber at popular prices, and second a German representative by the apostolic name of Philip, a man who is noted for his good nature and his extensive knowledge of lumber. He is able to tell to a nicety how many shingles a pine sapling will produce in twenty years when not molested by hail or dry rot. When you want anything in the line of lumber go to Fifield Bros.

SUNDAY EVE—LATER.

Alas, alas for Jimmy O,
Alas for Jimmy D,
They both have gone a courting O.
And even gone to tea.

And every boy who's burst his teens,
Is in that radiant way,
How beautiful O, girls your dreams,
You seem to rule the day.

Perhaps 'tis better thus to do,
Than loaf and talk and smoke.
But O, ye humble boys and true,
Be careful that ye never rue,
The matrimonial yoke.
